

Revision Timetable

- Make a list of all the topics you need to cover, then fit them into your own revision timetable.
- Be realistic – if you have a part time job or are in a club fill in that space in your timetable.
- Know your strong and weak subjects and mix them up on your timetable, don't do all the nightmare topics on one day.
- Find somewhere quiet to revise. You could also try working with other people but, if you can't concentrate, save get-togethers for breaks from the books.
- Don't overdo it. Your concentration lapses after a couple of hours, so take regular breaks.
